

2017 CPAC Award (Grade 10)
Recipient: Jacqueline Jin

The recipient of this year's CPAC Award for Grade 10 is Jacqueline Jin.

Jacqueline (Jax) Jin is currently a Grade 11 student at The Bishop Strachan School. Her grade 10 average was 93% and her community involvement has been far and wide.

Jax has been recognized as a bright, creative and hard-working student who is an Ambassador of her school and a leader who believes in the strength of kindness, determination and working together.

In class, along with her own excellent work, she makes a point of working with others to enhance their understanding and experience. As a member of the Bishop Strachan School community, she has been extensively involved in the Service Learning program. From mentoring students in Robotics at Sprucecourt Public School, to volunteering on service trips to Jamaica, the Dominican Republic, Japan and China, Jax always gives back whenever she can.

Jax established a school coding club three years ago and is currently serving as the Head of the Speakers Union, recruiting, coaching and mentoring younger girls. She has also founded and is the editor in chief of Createscape, an online literary magazine that publishes submissions from students.

Jax won the Canadian Youth Chess Championships, North American Youth Chess Championships and represented Canada at the World Youth Chess Championships at the age of 7. She now volunteers at the Philip Math and Chess Academy, helping young children to improve their skills in math, chess, and English.

Please join me in congratulating Jacqueline Jin, 2017 CPAC Grade 10 Award recipient
